Granny's Got Game Filmmaker/Submitter: Angela Alford	1 hr 14 mins (USA)	Granny's Got Game is a documentary film about a senior women's basketball team in North Carolina. These six fiercely competitive women in their seventies battle physical limitations and social stigma to keep doing what they love. They started playing 6-on-6 basketball in the 1950s but stopped after high school as there were no opportunities to keep playing then. Now they must learn a new, physical style of play while overcoming the skepticism of their peers. The team has had great success together over the last two decades, winning a multitude of medals in senior games tournaments across the country. Just like so many younger sports teams, this one includes a bossy captain, a guard who never runs the plays correctly, a tentative post-player, and a bench warmer who wants to play more than anyone. As teammates and friends, they support each other off the court through the difficulties that accompany aging, such as breast cancer and widowhood. These women are more than a team...they are a family. The film follows them for a yearlong season culminating in a nearly disastrous trip to the National Senior Games Championship in Houston, Texas . Moving from Emptiness: The Life and Art of a Zen Dude Filmmaker/Submitter: Shaeri Richards	1 hr 9 mins (USA)	Where does creativity come from? Zen calligraphic painter Alok Hsu Kwang-han proposes that it arises from emptiness, from that silent space where the intelligence prior to thought resides. According to Alok, he teaches painting by "not teaching painting". Instead he shows students how to get out of their way, so that "creativity" happens on its own. Alok is truly a Zen dude and through him we discover the world of Zen. Like a performance artist, he deeply enters this space of silence, preparing to paint in front of audiences and groups. Moments later, the crowd delights as his artwork appears before their eyes with a few elegant strokes of the brush. Alok lives his life very much like he teaches his workshops: remaining open to both beauty and pain, bringing presence and acceptance to whatever arises in front of him, and vowing to set endless heartaches to rest. He does it all while invoking a spunky sense of humor that keeps us smiling. On the verge of his 75th birthday and with a new love in his life, Alok employs his teachings to confront his own personal history. Through his life and his art we share a journey of transformation that becomes possible when we are simply "present, available, playful and not knowing". Through Alok we discover that "in a clear heart, no mountain hides the moon". http://www.zendudemovie.com	Documentary	2:45pm	Salvation Army Boys & Girls Club- Screening Rm. 4
Growth Spurt Filmmaker/Submitter: Christina Vinsick	15 mins (USA)	Johann is a typical business man, who has lost touch with life outside of the big city. Terra is a free spirit, unplugged and off the grid, whose existence revolves around her self sustained botanical garden. Circumstances merge their paths and Terra invites Johann into her paradise. What ensues is a quirky, comical and endearing adventure that you can't help but get lost in.	Short Film	4:00pm	Salvation Army Boys & Girls Club- Screening Rm. 4
Enchanted Forrest Filmmaker/Submitter: Joyce Storey	21 mins (USA)	Enchanted Forrest tells the story of what happens when a young boy and his siblings stumble on an enchanted little boy in the woods. Forrest looks to be a boy of ten, but he's really almost one hundred years old! Half leprechaun, half elf, he is young by magical standards. Left alone in the woods, he has only his pet rat Estabon, for companionship. He longs for friends to play with, and the children who discover him long to take him home to become part of their family, but first they must unlock the magical spells that keep him from leaving the wooded habitat. A story of love, magic, and adventure. "Enchanted Forrest" is a heart-warming tale for the whole family.	Short Film	4:20pm	Salvation Army Boys & Girls Club- Screening Rm. 4
